Is the focal point of the Farm Placement Service.

The Farm Placement Service is available to all farmers, growers and processors and to all workers seeking farm employment.

Farm Placement Officers have full information on farm jobs that are open and on workers who are available for farm work.

Farm Placement Officers are ready to meet the employment needs of the farm community. They have access to means of large scale recruitment to meet the urgent needs of harvest and crop processing as well as the larger term—labour—needs of the farm community.

Farm placement service is established in each of some 200 local offices across Canada. If suitable farm labour is not immediately available in any one area, recruitment activity can be extended quickly to other areas through this local office network.

YOUR FARM
SERVICE

The Farm Placement Service is a specialized service to farmers and farm workers that is available without cost from your local National Employment Office. The Farm Placement Service is carried on in co-operation with provincial agricultural representatives in each province and with the various agricultural organizations. International movements of farm labour are organized and carried on in co-operation with the various State Services of the United States Employment Service. In Canada, certain specialized recruitment programs and organized movements of farm workers are carried on under the Federal-Provincial Farm Labour Agreements. These agreements provide in certain cases for shared costs of recruitment and related services.

The Farm Placement Service is organized to provide a complete, nation-wide employment service to farmers and farm workers.
